

John Mollway Bio

- Founded eDimension LLC (2005), a Southern California consulting business providing E-rate, technology planning, network design and project management services
- Increased average E-rate funding commitments for client districts by 148%
- Expertise in E-rate program rules and FCC orders
- Solid history of successful appeals with both USAC and FCC
- Knowledge of California Teleconnet Fund (CTF)
- Over 25 years experience in the Information Technology industry in both public and private sectors
- 17 years California K-12 public school experience in large and small school districts
- Designed and implemented local and wide area networks for multi-site school districts and multi-state corporation
- Network Administrator for 48,000 student school district, 1994-1998
- IT Director responsible for information and instructional technology programs for two school districts, 1998-2005
- Served as Interim Information Technology Director for two area school districts, 2008 and 2011
- Developed state approved E-rate and Enhancing Education Through Technology (EETT) Educational Technology Plans
- Attends all available E-rate training programs offered by USAC and the state of California
- Detailed understanding of changing educational technology needs within school districts
- 2002 San Jacinto Unified School District Administrator of the Year
- Board Member, New Vision Children's Services, a 501(c)3 non-profit serving children with special needs and those at-risk of failure, 2007-2011